APPRENTICESHIPS

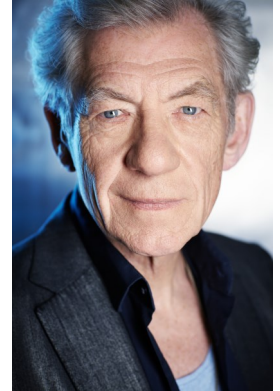

Go Construct Apprenticeships

Construction apprenticeships are a highly valued entry route into the industry. There are 100s of diverse, rewarding construction apprenticeships to choose from. You could be behind a drawing board, developing project management skills, training as a craftsman and more. Click here for more information on the different apprenticeship levels and opportunities available.

Celebrities who started their careers with an apprenticeship

From Lord of the Rings to X-Men, you are probably familiar with the work of actor Sir Ian McKellen. Except, this acting great didn't go to drama school like you might think. Instead, Sir Ian completed a three-year apprenticeship at the Belgrade Theatre in Coventry. It was here that he honed his craft and gained the acting chops to become one of the most celebrated actors in British history. Acting apprenticeships are starting to become popular again with smaller theatre companies. Check out some of the backstage apprenticeships that The National Theatre and the Royal Shakespeare Company offer too.

Apprenticeships are real jobs with real employers, allowing you to work, earn a salary and gain valuable qualifications and experience.

With over 600 different apprenticeship standards covering everything from accountancy to zoo keeping, there is an apprenticeship out there for everyone. Everything you need to know is here.

Navigating Apprenticeship Options

Slowly but surely apprenticeships are becoming an increasingly popular option for students looking at their post-school options. University is no longer taken for granted as the 'best' route. But recognising that apprenticeships are a good option is just the first step: you have to find out whether an apprenticeship will really work for you, and then you have to go about finding and successfully applying for one. Read more about what you should consider and do to successfully navigate your way to a great apprenticeship.

IBM Apprenticeship Webinar

After an incredibly successful insight webinar last year, IBM are back to dive into the world of apprenticeships and provide you with all the information you need to become an IBMer. Sign up here
